VanDutch 75 / An Open Yacht with Cruising Features

In 2021, Cantieri del Pardo announced the acquisition of VanDutch. Then, in 2023, Calzedonia Group acquired Cantieri del Pardo—with a promise of international growth and new models to come. Making its debut this autumn is the VanDutch 75, which evolves the brand’s design language to add contemporary Mediterranean flair. Exterior areas are now more practical and comfortable, with features such as custom-designed seats. There’s a carbon-fiber hardtop available with a low-profile vibe. The natural teak deck is offered with white caulking for a more contemporary style. Top speed, the builder says, is 40 knots.
